Environmental Policy for Namiki's Headquarters

Namiki Precision Jewel Co., Ltd. is a precision parts manufacturer that produces and sells optical communication device, micro motor, medical device, semiconductor/jewel parts, watch exterior parts and rare earth magnet, etc.

The headquarters is the functional site which executes development, design, production engineering, experimental production, purchase of materials and parts, parts inspection, quality assurance, sales and marketing, logistics of these products, and those indirect works supplemented these functions.

Namiki is actively developing global and local environmental conservation activities in every stage of operations, products and services as mentioned hereunder:

(1) To grasp the impacts of the said operations, products and services given to the environment, specify the environmental objectives and targets as far as technically and economically possible, periodically review and prevent pollutions as well as continuously improve environmental protection activities.

(2) Accordingly, to establish environmental management system, clarify organizational structure with the rolls and responsibilities and implement environmental audit.

(3) To comply with legislation and regulations and other requirements.

(4) To promote following priority action items:

a) Reduction of chemical substances which are subject to legislation and regulations by tie-up actions with our factories.

b) Monitoring in terms of amounts of chemical substances and development of monitoring system for the subject substances regulated by PRTR Law (The Law of Pollutant Release and Transfer Register) .

c) Reduction of industrial waste emissions.

d) Promotion of reuse and recycling of resources.

e) Conservation of energy and saving resources.

(5) To make the headquarters' environmental policy fully understood by whole employees including part-timers, etc. and penetrate environmental consciousness by means of environmental education and internal public information.

(6) To make this environmental policy open to the public by means of portable Policy Card, internal notification, intranet, bulletin board, website and printed papers.

July 1, ２００１

Shoji Namiki
Chairman and CEO, Representative Director
Namiki Precision Jewel Co., Ltd.